UBC TALKS: Sustainable stormwater management

UBC TALKS continue with cities and water sector professionals invited for the discussion on developing smart and sustainable stormwater planning and management.

UBC Sustainable Cities Commission invites you to the webinar on best practices in stormwater management organized on 28 April 2020 at 09.30–11.00 CET. The webinar will introduce a keynote on modern smart stormwater management, and provide three examples and experiences from the cities around the Baltic Sea: Copenhagen, Helsinki and Gdansk.

Cities and water sector professionals are invited for the discussion on developing sustainable stormwater planning and management as a path for adapting cities to the climate change. Tune to listen about it, share your challenges and good examples.
