CoT/KARR together with the National Foundation for Enterprise Culture in Gdynia and the Entrepreneurs' Association in Rostock Region, as partners in the project, carried out online research and prepared survey for internet users.

The name of the questionnaire was "Survey on relevance of heritage potentials for business development". Its aim was to assess the influence of various heritage aspects on tourism. We focused on natural and cultural heritage of the Baltic Sea Region.

The survey was available on the website of KARR, AGORA 2.0 project, facebook and was mailed to the cities of UBC. There are 201 responses on our survey. Now CoT/KARR is working on the development of research results.

CoT/KARR is also involved in The Six Baltic Sea Wonders Competition. The contest intends to promote the region's cultural and natural heritage by identifying the most popular features of the whole Baltic Sea Region. The aim is to strengthen a common identity, which will help making the region more visible as a tourist destination and to develop innovative tourism products.

"Baltic Culinary Route - enjoy Baltic Cuisine"

"Baltic Culinary Route - enjoy Baltic Cuisine"

The aims of the project:

- preparation of the final tourist product with the involvement of the UBC member cities;
- creation and promotion of the concept of "Baltic Cuisine";
- promotion of the Baltic Sea Region, its traditions, customs and current tourist offer

"Baltic Culinary Route - enjoy Baltic Cuisine"

The project will be implemented in the period February 2012 - March 2013, and its various stages look like this:

1. Introductory stage of information - mailing to UBC member cities with information about the project;
2. Gathering information about the culinary traditions of each BSR country - cooperation within CoT and between UBC member cities;
3. Creating a logo of the Baltic Culinary Route and Marketing Plan for BCR.

"Baltic Culinary Route - enjoy Baltic Cuisine"

4. Creation of geographical and biological description of the Baltic Sea Region with particular reference to the influence of natural conditions on the culinary heritage
5. Selection of the food and places where it is served to be included in the project - indications made by member cities of UBC
6. Preliminary delimitation of BCR on the basis of collected information

"Baltic Culinary Route - enjoy Baltic Cuisine"

7. Development of the final version of BCR with multimedia material. Elaboration and edition of data and preparing it for printing
8. Preparing an electronic version of guide on BCR to be used on the Internet (in English)
9. Providing the UBC member cities and structures of UBC with the electronic version of the guide on BCR with the request to place it on their web sites
10. Printing out the booklet of Baltic Culinary Route

"Baltic Culinary Route - enjoy Baltic Cuisine"

We assume that the CoT should look at the annual updating of data in the guide on BCR in collaboration with Commission Members and UBC member cities.

The Guide will be regularly updated with interesting facts and anecdotes about places along the route. The Commission will also collect unique recipes for local dishes and in this way will save them from forgetting.

"Baltic Culinary Route - enjoy Baltic Cuisine"

The planned project will help in creating and promoting the concept of "Baltic Cuisine".

The results of this project will be used by the CoT in the projects „AGORA 2.0” and „Enjoy South Baltic!”, and will be available for own and foreign publications.

It is anticipated that, over time, the guide on BCR will be translated into national languages of the Baltic Region countries.
